Once upon a time, rural America was built on the music and conversation of families who relaxed at the end of the day playing music on their front porches, The front porch was the grand pulpit of every community, the gathering place for family, friends and neighbors. It was the greatest stage in the world, filled with musicians every evening singing together as the sun went down.

This the world premiere as seen nationwide on public television, performed with The Ohio Valley Symphony, conducted by Tim Berens.

DAZED & CONFUZED delivers on all fronts, from the title track with its pointed commentary of politics in the Twitter world, to the social commentary of Something's Wrong, the dulcimer driven "U2 meets Jean Ritchie" about political infighting called the Maple Tree to the social anthem The Statue, the anti-smoking epic (I Hate Your) Smoke to an old Grand Ole Opry banjo classic $5 WIFE ... the album journeys through every folk music mood of the last century.

Among his many accomplishments is the live audience syndicated WoodSongs Old-Time Radio Hour. The show airs on 537 stations from Australia to Boston to Ireland. It also airs on American Forces Radio Network twice each weekend in 177 nations, including every military base and US Naval ship in the world. The shows airs in millions of TV homes as a public television series, and now Friday and Wednesday's coast-to-coast on the RFD-TV Network. WoodSongs has recently been added to the broadcast home of the Grand Ole Opry, the legendary 650 AM WSM in Nashville, a 50,000 watt radio super station broadcasting into 26 states and parts of Europe.

"Take the inventiveness of Bob Dylan, the melodic voice of John Denver, add the showmanship of Garrison Keillor and that's Michael Johnathon."

Bob Spear, Publisher
Heartland Review

Now comes "WoodSongs 4: A Folksinger's Rocking Chair Reader & Fireplace Compendium" the latest in the WoodSongs book series. Michael Johnathon, indeed, is no ordinary folksinger. And yes, aside from the tsunami of his work and accomplishments, he's an excellent musician and a brilliant songwriter.

Michael Johnathon re-invents the folksinger with

Among the throngs of musicians in the folk world, few have elevated "dreaming" to such a high artform as Michael Johnathon. From composing the Woody Guthrie Opera to writing the Walden play, the inter-national SongFarmers movement to producing the wildly successful broadcast of the WoodSongs Old-Time Radio Hour, solo concert tours to performing the Songs of Rural America symphony concert for public television, even recording his song The Dream about the earth at piece with a 61-piece orchestra with choirs in English, French, Spanish and Russian, his accomplishments can easily overshadow a very important point:

Michael Johnathon is an excellent musician and a brilliant songwriter.

His 11th studio album, DAZED & CONFUZED, is a concept album re-introducing the role of the folksinger in the 21st century.

"I think the folk world lost its way, just a little bit," he says from his log cabin home near Lexington, Kentucky. "It turned from This Machine Kills Fascists" into the acoustic "I, Me, Mine" genre of sensitive, introspective songwriters. Which is fine, but the politics of recent years has made many shy away from digging into the changes of norms in society. As the marketplace shrinks and making a living gets harder, many songwriters are hesitant to rock the proverbial boat. But without that musical courage, we would never have songs like Masters of War or This Land is Your Land."
