“The Painter” is a full album song cycle about art, artists, love and life.

The title cut is also for the theme song of the ongoing work for a motion picture script of the same name, about Vincent van Gogh coming back to see his de-spised work now revered worldwide.

The music was inspired by Michael’s efforts creating oil paintings at his log cabin in Kentucky.

“Take the inventiveness of Bob Dylan,
the melodic voice of John Denver,
the showmanship of Garrison Keillor ...
and that’s Michael Johnathon.”
